Spanish Ministry of Economy	The Spanish Ministry of Economy recognised the importance of training in economic development. For this reason, the Ministry took the opportunity offered by the World Bank to join the Global Development Learning Network (GDLN) that aims at providing institutional strengthening through training programs. With this objective in mind the Ministry created the CEDDET Foundation that provides training courses to high level civil servants using IT. CEDDET offers online courses through internet to Latin American Institutions with the objective to improve their management procedures and ammeliorate services rendered to citizenship. CEDDET has established contacts with many Spanish public and private institutions that do also collaborate with this iniative providing funds and knowledge. Main collaborators so far are: Telefónica, EFE news agency, Universia and Repsol.
