Table of Contents

Main findings of the joint EC/OECD seminar on Naturalisation and the Socio-economic Integration of Immigrants and their Children by Thomas Liebig ........................................... 15

Part I. Naturalisation and the Labour Market Outcomes of Immigrants: An Overview

Chapter 1. Citizenship and the Socio-economic Integration of Immigrants and their Children: An Overview across EU and OECD Countries by Thomas Liebig and Friederike Von Haaren

Introduction ........................................................................................................... 24
1.1. Citizenship take-up among immigrants ................................................................. 26
1.2. The labour market outcomes of naturalised and non-naturalised immigrants ........... 32
1.3. Labour market outcomes of children of immigrants and the association with host-country nationality ................................................................. 43
1.4. The impact of naturalisation on immigrants’ labour market outcomes .................... 45
1.5. Conclusions ........................................................................................................... 48
Notes ......................................................................................................................... 51
References ................................................................................................................... 55
Annex 1.A2. Supplementary tables ......................................................................... 60

Chapter 2. The Current Status of Nationality Law by Nicole Guimezanes

Introduction ........................................................................................................... 66
2.1. Dual nationality ................................................................................................. 67
2.2. Acquisition of nationality at birth ....................................................................... 68
2.3. Acquisition of nationality by naturalisation ......................................................... 69
2.4. Other ways of acquiring nationality ..................................................................... 72
2.5. Loss of nationality .............................................................................................. 73
2.6. Conclusions ........................................................................................................... 74
Notes ......................................................................................................................... 75
References ................................................................................................................... 79
Annex 2.A1. The main laws on nationality ................................................................. 80
Annex 2.A2. Supplementary tables ......................................................................... 81

Part II. The Impact of Naturalisation on Immigrants’ Labour Market Integration: Experiences from EU and OECD Countries

Chapter 3. The Impact of Naturalisation on Labour Market Outcomes in Sweden by Mattias Engdahl

Introduction ........................................................................................................... 100
3.1. General framework on benefits and costs of acquiring Swedish citizenship ................ 100
3.2. Data, sample restrictions and empirical specification ............................................. 102
3.3. Labour market outcomes ..................................................................................... 103
3.4. Conclusions ....................................................................................................................... 105
Notes ......................................................................................................................................... 106
References ................................................................................................................................ 107
Annex 3.A2. Tables .................................................................................................................. 109

Chapter 4. How Acquiring French Citizenship Affects Immigrant Employment by Denis Fougère and Mirna Safi

Introduction .............................................................................................................................. 132
4.1. The acquisition of citizenship and labour market integration in France ...................... 132
4.2. Measuring the association between naturalisation and immigrants’ access to employment .................................................................................................................................................. 134
4.3. Conclusions ....................................................................................................................... 139
Notes ......................................................................................................................................... 140
References ................................................................................................................................ 143

Chapter 5. The Impact of Naturalisation on Immigrant Labour Market Integration in Germany and Switzerland
by Max Friedrich Steinhardt

Introduction .............................................................................................................................. 146
5.1. Germany ..................................................................................................................................... 146
5.2. Switzerland ................................................................................................................................ 148
Notes ......................................................................................................................................... 150
References ................................................................................................................................ 151

Chapter 6. Citizenship Acquisition in Canada and the United States: Determinants and Economic Benefit by Garnett Picot and Feng Hou

Introduction .............................................................................................................................. 154
6.1. Becoming a citizen of Canada or the United States ........................................................... 154
6.2. Does citizenship acquisition improve economic outcomes? ............................................. 155
6.3. The determinants of naturalisation .................................................................................... 165
6.4. The rise of a naturalisation rate gap between Canada and the United States ............... 167
6.5. Conclusions ....................................................................................................................... 177
Notes ......................................................................................................................................... 178
References ................................................................................................................................ 181

Chapter 7. The Labour Market Outcomes of Naturalised Citizens in Norway by Bernt Bratsberg and Oddbjørn Raaum

Introduction .............................................................................................................................. 184
7.1. Potential gains and losses from host-country citizenship .................................................. 185
7.2. Data ..................................................................................................................................... 186
7.3. Empirical analysis .............................................................................................................. 191
7.4. Discussion .......................................................................................................................... 201
7.5. Conclusions ....................................................................................................................... 202
Notes ......................................................................................................................................... 203
References ................................................................................................................................ 205
Part III. Naturalisation and Social Cohesion

Chapter 8. Social Cohesion and Host Country Nationality among Immigrants in Western Europe by Christel Kesler and Neli Demireva

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.1. Social capital, social cohesion, diversity and citizenship acquisition</td>
<td>211</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.2. Data source and variables</td>
<td>213</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.3. Empirical results</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.4. Conclusions</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Note</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 9. Naturalisation and Social Inclusion by Pieter Bevelander

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.1. Social inclusion</td>
<td>238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.2. Consequences of naturalisation</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.3. Migrant voting: earlier studies</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.4. Citizenship and voting</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.5. Conclusions.</td>
<td>245</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Note</td>
<td>246</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>247</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 10. Integration and Access to Nationality in EU Member Countries by Yves Pascouau and Philippe De Bruycker

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.1. Quantitative approach</td>
<td>253</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.2. Knowledge of the language</td>
<td>254</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.3. Knowledge of the host society</td>
<td>255</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.4. National diversity and European co-ordination</td>
<td>256</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes</td>
<td>259</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 11. Naturalisation and the Promotion of the Social Integration of Immigrants in Quebec by Yvan Turcotte

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.1. Immigration policies aimed at permanent settlement</td>
<td>262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.2. The right of permanent residence and citizenship</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.3. Access to citizenship: an indicator of integration?</td>
<td>264</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.4. Social participation</td>
<td>266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.5. Conclusion: a paradox</td>
<td>270</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>273</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Part IV. The Interactions between Naturalisation Policy and Other Elements of the National Integration Policy Mix

Chapter 12. Policy Interactions in Belgium

by Mélanie Knott and Altay Manço

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12.1. Obtaining Belgian nationality through naturalisation: changing conditions</td>
<td>278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12.2. Integration and the various indicators for measuring it</td>
<td>284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12.3. Conclusion: is naturalisation a means of integration?</td>
<td>292</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes</td>
<td>296</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>297</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 13. The Legal Framework on Economic Migration and Naturalisation in the United Kingdom

by Chris Hedges

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>302</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.1. Legislative summary</td>
<td>304</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.2. Legal provisions in relation to grants of British citizenship</td>
<td>306</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.3. Definitions</td>
<td>306</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.4. Statistical summary</td>
<td>307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.5. Basis of grant</td>
<td>307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.6. Renunciation of British citizenship</td>
<td>308</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.7. Reasons for refusal</td>
<td>308</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes</td>
<td>309</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 14. Citizenship in Australia

by David Smith, Sanuki Jayarajah, Taya Fabjianic and Janice Wykes

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>314</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.1. History of Australian migration, integration and citizenship policies (1900 to present)</td>
<td>314</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.2. Citizenship conferrals</td>
<td>316</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.3. Characteristics of citizens</td>
<td>318</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.4. Variation by birthplace</td>
<td>320</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.5. Variation by years since arrival</td>
<td>321</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.6. Variation by birthplace and years since arrival</td>
<td>323</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.7. The relationship between citizenship and labour market outcomes</td>
<td>324</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.8. Do their jobs differ?</td>
<td>326</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.9. Impact of the length of stay on the labour market performance</td>
<td>328</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.10. Conclusions</td>
<td>330</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes</td>
<td>331</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>333</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 15. From Assisting to Requiring Integration: Selective Citizenship Policies in the Netherlands

by Kees Groenendijk

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15.1. Policy on immigrant integration: twice a new paradigm</td>
<td>336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15.2. Acquisition of nationality by naturalisation: restriction, liberalisation, restriction</td>
<td>339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15.3. Effects of new rules and tests: numbers and selection</td>
<td>343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15.4. The recent close relation between integration and naturalisation policy</td>
<td>345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15.5. Effects of naturalisation and integration policy on immigrant integration</td>
<td>345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>351</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Figures

Figure 1.1. Share of foreign-born who have been resident for at least ten years and who have the host-country nationality, selected OECD countries, by gender, around 2007 ............................... 27
Figure 1.2. Employment rates for immigrants by citizenship status, around 2007 ................................. 32
Figure 1.3. Public sector share of total employment, naturalised and non-naturalised immigrants, as a proportion of the public sector share for native-born persons, around 2007 ............................... 39
Figure 1.4. Percentage of native-born children of immigrants from lower-income countries who have the host-country nationality, aged 20-29 and not in education, around 2007 ...................... 43
Figure 4.1. The effect of professional category on the probability of naturalisation between two censuses ............................................................................................................................................. 136
Figure 4.2. The effect of educational level on the probability of naturalisation between two censuses ............................................................................................................................................. 136
Figure 7.1. Immigrant inflows, 1985-2007, and naturalisations, 1992-2007 ........................................... 187
Figure 7.2. Naturalisation rate and per-capita GDP by source country .................................................... 188
Figure 7.3. Share of immigrants that are naturalised by years since arrival, major source regions... 189
Figure 7.4a. Employment profiles by naturalisation status, men ......................................................... 191
Figure 7.4b. Employment profiles by naturalisation status, women ...................................................... 192
Figure 7.5a. Log earnings profiles by naturalisation status, men ......................................................... 193
Figure 7.5b. Log earnings profiles by naturalisation status, women ...................................................... 193
Figure 7.6a. Self-sufficiency by naturalisation status, men ................................................................. 194
Figure 7.6b. Self-sufficiency by naturalisation status, women ............................................................... 194
Figure 8.1. Nationality and experiences of discrimination ....................................................................... 215
Figure 8.2. Nationality and satisfaction with country ............................................................................. 217
Figure 8.3. Nationality and political interest .......................................................................................... 218
Figure 9.1. Influence of country of birth and citizenship on voter participation: results from instrumented regression controlling for demographic and social-economic characteristics .... 244
Figure 9.2. Impact of citizenship on voter participation: results from nine separate instrumented regressions (by geographical area) ........................................................................................................ 244
Figure 10.1. Integration testing for naturalisation in EU countries ....................................................... 253
Figure 11.1. Percentage of naturalised Canadian citizens among immigrants residing in Canada in 2006 by country of birth (15 main countries) .................................................................. 265
Figure 11.2. Percentage of naturalised Canadian citizens among immigrants residing in Quebec in 2006 by country of birth (15 main countries) ................................................................. 265
Figure 11.3. Rate of social participation of the population in various types of organisations by generation .............................................................................................................................................. 266
Figure 11.4. Rate of social participation of the population by generation and length of residence .............................................................................................................................................. 267
Figure 11.5. Rate of voter participation of naturalised immigrants by length of residence .... 268
Figure 11.6. Feeling of having been discriminated against or treated unfairly during the previous five years for total population and non-visible and visible minorities ............................ 268 Figure 11.7. Rate of participation of immigrants and of the total population in certain protest activities in Canada .................................................................................................................... 269
Figure 11.8. Rate of participation of the total population and immigrants in certain protest activities by length of residence and estimated degree of repression in the country of origin. .... 269
Figure 12.1. Number of naturalisation applications and of naturalisations granted in Belgium between 1998 and 2008 ....................................................................................................................... 280
Figure 12.2. Data on the naturalisation of Turkish-born people living in Belgium, several years .............................................................................................................................................. 283
Figure 12.3. Percentage of naturalised persons among Turkish-born Belgians, several years .............................................................................................................................................. 284
Figure 14.1. Citizenship conferrals and permanent additions, 2001-01 to 2009-10 ..................................318
Figure 14.2. Citizenship rates by years since arrival ........................................................................322
Figure 14.3. Citizenship rates by years since arrival: selected census years ..................................323
Figure 14.4. Citizenship rates by years since arrival (selected birthplaces) ..................................324
Figure 14.5. Participation rates of citizens and non-citizens by year of arrival ..............................329
Figure 14.6. Full-time employment rates of citizens and non-citizens by year of arrival ...............329
Figure 14.7. Unemployment rates of citizens and non-citizens by year of arrival .......................330
Figure 15.1. Applications for naturalisation, 1994-2008 ...............................................................344

Tables
Table 1.1. Naturalisation rates by region of origin, around 2007 ....................................................28
Table 1.2. Percentage of foreign-born who have the nationality of the host country, 1999/2000 and 2007/08, by region of origin, selected European OECD countries ..............29
Table 1.3. Share of low- and high-educated immigrants by citizenship status and origin, around 2007 .................................................................31
Table 1.4. Estimated higher probability to be in employment associated with naturalisation, around 2007 ........................................................................34
Table 1.5. Share of employed immigrants who are in high-skilled occupations, by gender and citizenship status, around 2007 .................................................................35
Table 1.6. Estimated higher probability of employment in a high-skilled occupation associated with naturalisation, around 2007 .................................36
Table 1.7. Estimated higher wage associated with naturalisation, by origin, selected OECD countries, around 2008 ..................................................................................38
Table 1.8. Estimated probability to be employed in the public sector associated with naturalisation, around 2007 ......................................................................................40
Table 1.9a. Share of native- and foreign-born who participated in on-the-job training, by citizenship status, around 2007 .................................................................42
Table 1.9b. Estimated higher probability associated with naturalisation to have participated in on-the-job-training, by origin, around 2007 .................................................................42
Table 1.10. Higher (+) or lower (-) probability for key labour market outcomes for naturalised compared with non-naturalised, children of immigrants aged 15-34 and not in education, around 2007 .................................................................44
Table 1.A2.1. Citizenship acquisition by foreigners in OECD countries since 1999 ......................60
Table 1.A2.2. Employment rates of foreign-born men by citizenship status and origin, around 2007 ..................................................................................................................61
Table 1.A2.3. Employment rates of foreign-born women by citizenship status and origin, around 2007 ..................................................................................................................62
Table 1.A2.4. The association between naturalisation and the probability to be self-employed, selected OECD countries, around 2007 .................................................................63
Table 1.A2.5. Longitudinal studies on the impact of naturalisation on the labour market outcomes of immigrants .................................................................64
Table 2.A2.1. Nationality of origin (by birth) ................................................................................82
Table 2.A2.2. Simplified naturalisation .........................................................................................86
Table 2.A2.3. Acquisition of nationality by naturalisation ..........................................................90
Table 2.A2.4. Acquisition of nationality other than by naturalisation or marriage .....................92
Table 2.A2.5. Naturalisation by marriage .....................................................................................93
Table 2.A2.6. Loss of nationality .................................................................................................94
Table 3.A2.1. Incidence of citizenship by years since immigration and birth region ..................109
Table 3.A2.2. Citizenship by immigration cohort ten years after immigration ..........................109
Table 3.A2.3. Means and standard deviations of variables, full sample five and ten years after immigration ................................................................. 110
Table 3.A2.4. Correlation between naturalisations and earnings, men ........................................ 111
Table 3.A2.5. Correlation between naturalisations and earnings, women ..................................... 112
Table 3.A2.6. Correlation between naturalisations and employment status, men .......................... 113
Table 3.A2.7. Correlation between naturalisations and employment status, women ..................... 114
Table 3.A2.8. Impact of naturalisations on log earnings, men ..................................................... 115
Table 3.A2.9. Impact of naturalisations on earnings, women ..................................................... 116
Table 3.A2.10. Impact of naturalisations on employment, men ................................................... 117
Table 3.A2.11. Impact of naturalisations on employment, women ............................................. 118
Table 3.A2.12. Impact of naturalisations on earnings, leads and lags, men ................................. 119
Table 3.A2.13. Impact of naturalisations on earnings, leads and lags, women .............................. 122
Table 3.A2.14. Impact of naturalisations on employment, leads and lags, men ............................ 125
Table 3.A2.15. Impact of naturalisations on employment, leads and lags, women ....................... 128
Table 4.1. Coefficients associated with the interaction effect between naturalisation and country of origin in the employment equation of a bivariate probit model .................. 138
Table 6.1. Labour market outcomes by citizenship among immigrants, Canada .......................... 158
Table 6.2. The advantage in labour market outcomes associated with citizenship among immigrants, Canada ........................................................................ 159
Table 6.3. Labour market outcomes by citizenship among immigrants, United States ................ 160
Table 6.4. The advantage in labour market outcomes associated with citizenship among immigrants, United States ........................................................................ 161
Table 6.5. Citizenship rates among immigrants aged 25 or over, United States and Canada ........ 167
Table 6.6. Changes in the characteristics of immigrants aged 25 and over in the United States and Canada ........................................................................ 169
Table 6.7. Citizenship rates among immigrants aged 25 or over by cohort and period of immigration .......................................................................................... 171
Table 6.8. Changes in citizenship rates among immigrants aged 25 or over for selected source regions and countries, Canada ......................................................... 173
Table 6.9. Changes in citizenship rates among immigrants aged 25 or over for selected source regions and countries, United States ..................................................... 174
Table 6.10. Decomposition of changes in citizenship rates, 1971-2006, Canada and the United States ........................................................................................................ 175
Table 6.11. Decomposition of changes in citizenship rates, 1971-2006, Canada and the United States excluding Central/South American immigrants ............................................ 176
Table 7.1. Immigrant cohorts subject to analysis ......................................................................... 189
Table 7.2. Descriptive statistics of analysis samples ..................................................................... 190
Table 7.3. Estimated impact of naturalisation on employment ..................................................... 195
Table 7.4. Estimated impact of naturalisation on log earnings ..................................................... 197
Table 7.5. Estimated impact of naturalisation on self-sufficiency ............................................... 197
Table 7.6. Employment change before and after naturalisation .................................................. 199
Table 7.7. Log earnings growth before and after naturalisation .................................................. 199
Table 7.8. Naturalisation and the probability of moving abroad ................................................... 201
Table 8.1. Gross differences between naturalised and non-naturalised immigrants on measures of social cohesion ........................................................................... 216
Table 8.2. Models predicting social cohesion outcomes, pooled sample .................................. 220
Table 8.3. Models predicting social cohesion outcomes, pooled sample with country interaction effects ......................................................................................... 222
Table 8.A1.1. Number of immigrants in the sample by country of residence and naturalisation status ........................................................................................................... 232
Table 8.A2.1. Additional coefficients for models in Table 8.2 ..................................................... 234
Table 8.A2.2. Additional coefficients for models in Table 8.3 ..................................................... 235
Table 12.1. Acquisition of Belgian nationality by country of previous nationality .................. 283
Table 12.2. Unemployment rate by nationality and place of birth .............................................. 288
Table 14.1. Citizenship conferrals by nationality ................................................................. 317
Table 14.2. Citizenship numbers and take-up rates of overseas-born by selected characteristics ... 319
Table 14.3. Employment outcomes overseas-born citizens and non-citizens aged 25-44 .......... 325
Table 14.4. Employment characteristics of foreign-born citizens and non-citizens aged 25-44 ....... 327
Table 15.1. Number of persons naturalised and naturalisation rate, 1990-2008 ....................... 343